

Solutions

Hairmax is another leader in the field of at-home laser treatments. Their innovative Laser Comb which is FDA approved to treat female hair loss works to stimulate hair follicles that are in the catagen or telogen growth phases. This stimulation encourages the follicle to produce healthy new hairs. The treatment process consists of the use of the comb for 8-15 minutes, 3 times per week. Although their main product is the laser comb, Hairmax does offer shampoos, conditioners and vitamins that all contribute to a healthy, full head of hair. The combination of supplements and products treat hair loss on many different levels to provide more complete care than most other systems.
